

Music Appreciation Workshop for People with Hearing Loss

The Bionic Ear Lab at the University of Southern California will be hosting a music appreciation workshop for individuals with hearing loss in partnership with the Neighborhood Music School and the USC Thornton Community Engagement Program. The workshop will include musical performances, a jam session for folks of all levels of musical experience, and resources for engaging with music post-hearing loss. Join us for an afternoon of music and community building!

To sign up for the workshop, please scan the QR code or contact Dr. Raymond Goldsworthy, Ph.D., at Raymond.Goldsworthy@med.usc.edu for details.

